The banks now hold $83,600,100 in excess of the requirements of the 25-per-cent. rule. The total bank clearings of all the clearing houses of the United States for the week ending March 31 were $796,592,424, an increase of $31,072,691, as compared with last week, and a decrease of $228,365,385 as compared with the corresponding week last

Total sales of stocks amounted to 107,218 shares. The share speculation was unusually active for a Saturday, and with the exception of a brief period around 11 o'clock, when realizing sales caused a fractional reaction, the tendency of the market was in the direction of higher prices, the market closing strong at an advance on the final figures of Friday from 14 to 1/2 in the active list and extending to 3 per cent, in the specialties. There was the customary covering of shorts for over Sunday, and the purchases were supplemented by very good buying for the London account in St. Paul, Atchison and Louisville & Nashville. This foreign buying was a large factor in the strength of the market, not so much by the play of the reckless and exasperating tac-greatness of its volume as that tics by which the silver faction seeks to it echoed the bull movement in American securities on the London Stock Exchange. The fact that the market has been largely noyance therefore the Senator may inflict be oversold was recognized by the short intercan only score another failure." anxious, and in the late dealings rushed to cover. Reports of milder weather in the West strengthened the trading in the grangers, the buying in which was also increased by the announcement that the extent of the damage to crops had been overestimated. St. Paul led in the dealings, and made the greatest advance in these shares, namely, %c. A Chicago rumor that a compromise had been made with the est, and as the morning waned they grew Hyde Park Gas Company, by which it had agreed not to extend its mains into that city, had the effect of advancing the stock %c, but little credence being placed in the story a reaction of %c took place, followed in the closing dealings by a recovery of %c. The principal advances of the day were: Cordage preferred, 3; do common, 214; Louisville & Nashville, 114; and American Tobacco preferred and Great Northern preferred, 1. Louisville & New Albany preferred broke from 11/2 to 17/8. but rallied 1/2. Sugar lost 1/8 on sales of long stock. The advances on the week over 2 per cent. are as follows: St. Paul & Duluth preferred, 7; Consolidated Gas and Lead, preferred, each 3%; American Cotton Oil preferred, 41/4; do common, 2; Union Pacific and American Tobacco, each 41/8; do preferred, 3%; Denver & Rio Grande preferred, 3%; St. Paul, Louisville & Nashville and Central Pacific, each 2%. The market was strong all day and advances were recorded of 31/2 in Minneapolis & St. Louis seconds; Peoria, Decatur & Evansville, Evansville division, firsts, 3; Peoria & Eastern incomes, Louisville & New Albany fives and do consols, each 1 per cent. The bond market during the past week has been characterized by remarkable activity, the transactions aggregating nearly $13,000,000, a record which has not been equaled in any six days within the past twelve months. The tendency has strong in tone, and most of the issues dealt in have recorded higher prices, the more important advances being 2% per cent. in Texas Pacific firsts, St. Louis Southwestern firsts, Peoria, Decatur & Evansville. Evansville division firsts, Peorla & Pekin

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW. Henry Clews, in his review of operations in Wall street last week, says:

"The past week has shown distinct symptoms of improvement in the tone of the stock market. There has been a more settled feeling of confidence; a broader interest has been developed in both the speculative and investment departments; transactions have become more general outside the mercurial "industrials," and some of the prominent bears have turned over to the long side of the market. In a general sense this improvement is due to the many influences that have for some time been working towards a better condition of business, and it is to be regarded as one of those spurts of cautious hope which mark the stages of the steady process of return towards a normal condition of affairs, and which are preparing the way to a really active upward movement in values. There is, however, one special cause for this improved feeling, which is quite important. The general confidence in the President vetoing the seigniorage bill has had a notable effect in Europe. The main fact which has kept London uninterested in American investments during a very marked recovery in other securities on that market, has been a fixed apprehension lest there might be more or less recantation of the decided anti-silver policy indicated in the late suspension of silver purchases. That is the one point on which the European markets are sensitive and wary towards our corporate issues; and that distrust has been exhibited in an almost total cessation of foreign demand for our stocks and bonds for a considerable time past. Even the Paris Bourse seems to have delayed its contemplated admission of Americans to its call principally on this account. What has most concerned these foreign centers is chiefly the question as to what may be the President's attitude on the silver issue; for they have felt that if he could be trusted to prove faithful to the policy of the repeal act no serious harm from the unsound money danger could come for the next three years, which would cover these contingencies far enough ahead to serve all present purposes. The assurances could be depended upon to veto the Bland bill have had the effect of bringing large London orders for bonds and stocks during the past week, thereby stopping the export of gold. It is reasonably argued that if such important transactions have been made in simple anticipation of the President's veto the demand is likely to prove much larger when the expectation is confirmed by the fact.

"This matter of the possible London demand is more important than might be sup-posed at first sight. The continued increase in British trade and the active speculation on the London Exchange are accepted as clear evidence of a new era of confidence and enterprise in Great Britain. The suspension of new creations of corporate capital for the last two or three years has resulted in a real scarcity of investments, and prices of certain kinds of securities are becoming abnormally high. Alert bankers and promoters are on the lookout first for bargains in existing issues, and next for opportunities for new enterprises. London agents are now in this country prospecting for business of this kind. They are likely to find plenty of chances growing out of the very marked curtailment of railroad con-struction during the last four or five years. Schemes of that character are now in process of formation; and, at a later stage, European capital is likely to have its opportunity for participating in their fruition. Evidence as yet beneath the surface indicates that, so soon as pending obstructive legislation is out of the way and business has resumed its normal course, there will be a launching of a new enterprise that will give employment to the large amount of now idle home capital and at the same time attract active co-operation from foreign money centers. It therefore would not be surprising if, twelve months hence, we find the United States and Europe in the midst of a marked revival of investment and speculation. Wall street begins to discover the dim outlines of the future. The prospect is contributing to a more hopeful, not to say sanguine, feeling; and as the outworkings of these tendencies become gradually more apparent the spirit of speculation will develop and values will correspondingly advance.

"The President's veto of the Bland till is an invaluable gain toward the recovery of confidence. It is not only a reaffirmation of the conservative monetary policy written large on the face of the repeal act, but it is an assurance that the policy is safe for the remaining three years of the President's tenure of office. And that is an immense assurance; for, if the silver craze can be held in restraint for three years, ways will be found for neutralizing it subsequently, if indeed it does not expire from its own inherent weakness. Senator Stewart's introluction of a free-coinage bill, though annoying, is not to be regarded as threatening in a monetary sense. It may run into causing obstructive confusion of other pending legislation, for the completion of which the business interests are impatiently waiting; but no one better knows than Senator Stewart that his scheme would be quashed by the President, and that it cannot be carried over his veto. It is simply a new disworry the country into concessions which it is resolved never to grant. Whatever an-

LOCAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE. The Trade of the Week Disappointing, with Steady Prices. On the wholesale streets the trade of the week ending March 31 was disappointing, the weather three days of the week being too winter-like, but the trade of the month of March, although not in volume up to that of March last year, was better in several lines than had been looked for. This remark will apply to dry goods, millinery, confectionery, hardware and drugs. On Commission row the business of a portion of the month was quite satisfactory. In prices changes were few. All staple groceries ruled steady and firm. Provisions in the latter part of the week recovered the ¼ of a cent reduction of Monday. In a jobbing way a fair trade is in progress. The week closed with poultry and eggs 1/2 cent higher than on Monday, and firm at that quotation. In the vegetable line prices are easier, but not quotably changed. Few strawberries and tomatoes are coming in and prices are higher than a week ago. Lower prices need not be looked for until the result of the late freeze in the Southern States is better known. The local grain market, take the week through, was more active than in the week ending March 24. Prices, however, varied but little. Wheat and corn were 1/2 cent higher yesterday than on Monday. Track bids ruled as follows: Wheat-No. 2 red, 541/2c; No. 3 red, 501/2c; rejected, 40@50c; wagon wheat, 54c. Solder, 15@16c. Some Experience with Potatoes. Ohio Correspondence National Stockman. One-half of my neighbors are buying potatoes. They plant big patches, but raise few potatoes. I have never failed to raise a good crop. Last year I raised over one hundred bushels in all; but I wish to speak of my "trial patch." I planted a piece of ground containing four square rods. Had eleven rows, three feet apart. Cut mediumsized potatoes into four pieces, lengthwise -letting each piece have a part of the seed end. Loose ground plowed deep and furrowed six inches deep. Planted the same day I plowed, the last day of April, one piece in a place, one foot apart; covered with about two inches of well rotted stable manure, and then two inches of dirt. Worked them the first time as soon as they were up-the last time just before they blossomed-three times in all. Raised seventeen and one-half bushels, or at the rate of seven hundred bushels to the acre. Beauty of Hebron. Another writer in the same paper relates his experience in different methods of cut-ting the seed potatoes as follows: Last year we hauled in March with two horses thirty loads of manure per acre, and spread it on top of a genue rise of rolling upland. The soil is sandy clay mulatto loam. It was a timothy sod. Plowed it the first of April, pulverized it well, marked it out 3½x2½ feet and four inches deep. Planted on the 13th of April, the first plat with whole little potatoes, two in a nill; the second plat with potatoes a little larger than the above, cut into two pieces lengthwise, two pieces in a hill. The third plat with potatoes as large as a goose egg cut into four pieces lengthwise, two pieces in a hill. The yield was equally good on the four plats. I plant big potatoes when they are low in price and little ones when

REACTION IN WHEAT

Bulls Retire on Confirmed Stories of Good Crop Outlook.

Leading Cereal Loses 5-8c, Followed by Weakness in Other Grain and Declines in Provisions.

CHICAGO, March 31 .- The mild weather and reports from the country that wheat had received no damage whatever from the recent freeze caused wheat to rule weak and to close 1/20%c lower than it did yesterday. The corn and oats markets were extremely dull and inclined to weakness. Provisions were weak without any wavering of that feeling. Wheat opened strong, but not very active at 60%@61c for May. The local crowd had, at that price, a great many fives and tens of long wheat with from $625 to $1,250 profit, and that, on the bull side of the market, proved too strong a temptation for the average scalper to resist. There was many changes in the way of selling May and replacing it with July and September, principally into the latter delivery at from 34c, narrowing during the operation to 3c spread. Counselman-Day, Adams, Samuet, Cush, Clifford and Schwartz-Dupee were the most active sellers of May at the opening. Many of the selling orders were said to have come from New York. The market turned very weak immediately after the opening and, in a little more than half an hour May declined to 60%c, or %c below the highest point at the start. Chicago receipts were 23 carloads; Minneapolis, 182 carloads and Duluth, 88 carloads. A year ago the receipts for Friday, which was a holiday, and Saturday, were reported together and amounted to: Chicago, 333 carloads; Minneapolis and Duluth, 1,130 carloads. Bradstreet reported the week's exports of flour and wheat from both coasts at 2,956,250 bushels, against 2,343,000 bushels on the previous week; since January 1, 33,-943,000 bushels, compared with 41,475,000 bushels for the corresponding period of 1893. The market continued to rule weak during the greater part of the remainder of the session. There was a rally to 601/4c, from 601/4c, and then a gradual fighting decline to 601/sc, with a sale or two as low as 60c. The closing trades were at 601/60601/4c. The corn market was again very dull and the price and fluctuations were, as for some days past, largely influenced wheat. The market opened firm at 37%c for May, and before the firm feeling evaporated 37%c was realized for one or two fives. When wheat dropped off there was corresponding movement in corn. There were temporary rallies of 1/3c from the bottom price quoted, but the continued weakness in wheat prevented them from sticking for long at a time. The closing quotation, 371/2c, shows a change since yes-

Only a fair amount of business was transacted in oats. Sellers were in the majority, and with their influence and the weakness in corn and wheat the price fell off 1/3c to 4c on near futures. The more remote daliveries were comparatively firm. The market for May opened where it ended yes-terday, at 31%c, sold down to 31%c, and closed at that price.

There was less activity in provisions than was the case for a few days previous, and prices were generally on the down grade. The run of hogs for the first part of the ensuing week were expected to be liberal, and that was given as the reason for the weaker feeling. The day's receipts were 23,000, instead of only 18,000, as had been talked of yesterday, and that gave the market its initial decline. Longs were credited with supplying the most of the day's demand. The more radical weakness which followed did not develop until near the end of the session, when pork sold at $11.50 and closed at $11.52½, against $11.82½ at the close yesterday. Lard wound up at 6.77%c, compared with 7.05c, and ribs at 5.82%c, against 6c yesterday.
Estimated receipts for Monday are:

Wheat, 26 cars; corn, 290 cars; oats, 260 cars; hogs, 34,000. Leading futures ranged as follows:

@6.62½c; whisky, distillers' finished goods, per gal, $1.15. On the Produce Exchange, to-day, the butter market was steady and unchanged. Eggs dull; strictly fresh, 9½@10c.

On track: No. 1 hard, 63%c; No. 1 Northern, 61%c; No. 2 Northern, 60c. The receipts in the country for Minnesota and the two Dathe country for Minnesota and the two Dakotas were estimated to be about 50,000 bu delivered to railroad stations by farmers. Receipts of wheat in Minneapolis amounted to 699,410 bu for the week, against 1,249,140 bu a year ago for the corresponding week. Shipments this week were 138,370 bu, against 502,180 bu the corresponding week last year. Receipts at Duluth for the week were 206,-510, making above 900,000 bu received from the interior during the week. It is probable that there will be a decrease in country elevator stocks of some 300,000 were grinding at the rate of about 30,000 brls for the twenty-four hours, as some of the large mills that were idle that portion of the time in the forepart of the week were running to-day. Shipments of flour were 20,452 brls to-day. Flour-Shipments for the week were 149,660 brls, against 187,631 brls the same week a year ago. There is a decrease of 100,469 bu in public elevator stocks this week. There was an active demand for flour all week, and sales were in excess of the production. To-day's quotations were: Patents, $3.40@3.60; bakers', $1.80

A pleasant tooth powder, and beneficial as well, is made of finely-ground orris root and precipitated chalk in equal parts. When flavored with oil of rose it is very fragrant. Don't grease a creaking hinge and stick it up with a remedy that is worse than the evil, but put a little graphite or soft lead pencil on the place of friction.
